In the interest of innovation, my wife and I strongly oppose the NAB's effort to stop XM Instant Traffic And Weather For the following reasons: 1. This is a subscription service which we are paying a monthly fee. 2. This is the 21st century. The NAB wants to keep communications back in the day of the pony express rider 3. We are professional drivers and depend on this service to make our jobs just a little bit easier by avoiding timely traffic delays. The NAB way leaves us guessing as to which station in a metro area has traffic reports and how often they broadcast them. 4. Under the NAB way, we find ourselves in the middle of a major traffic delay before the local NAB station gets it aired at its SLOTTED BROADCAST TIME. With today's major metro traffic, it only makes sense to have this new service XM radio offers. This service allows drivers to be informed in advance, to use alternate routes, and, aids police, fire, and rescue by not adding more traffic to an already serious problem. Let's keep the state of the art of communications in the 21st century. Thank You, James and Linda Sisk
